STUDYING IN FRANCE: BASIC FACTS

10 GOOD REASONS TO CHOOSE FRANCE FOR A RESEARCH PROJECT ⁴

1. France, one's of the world's most research-intensive nations

- Investment in R&D: €48 billion
- More than 260 000 researchers and 75 000 students enrolled in doctoral programs

2. France, world's 6th largest economy

- Share of GDP devoted to research: 2,26%

3. A high-level of scientific output

- 6th in the world in number of patents

4. International recognition of researchers:

- 13 Fields Medals (2nd in the world), 61 Nobel Prizes (1st in the world in Literature)

5. Participation in projects of international scope

6. Marked internationalization of research

- 10% of researchers and 42% of doctoral students are from outside France

7. Top 10 in the world

- In Scientific publications
- In researchers per capita

8. CNRS recognized throughout the world

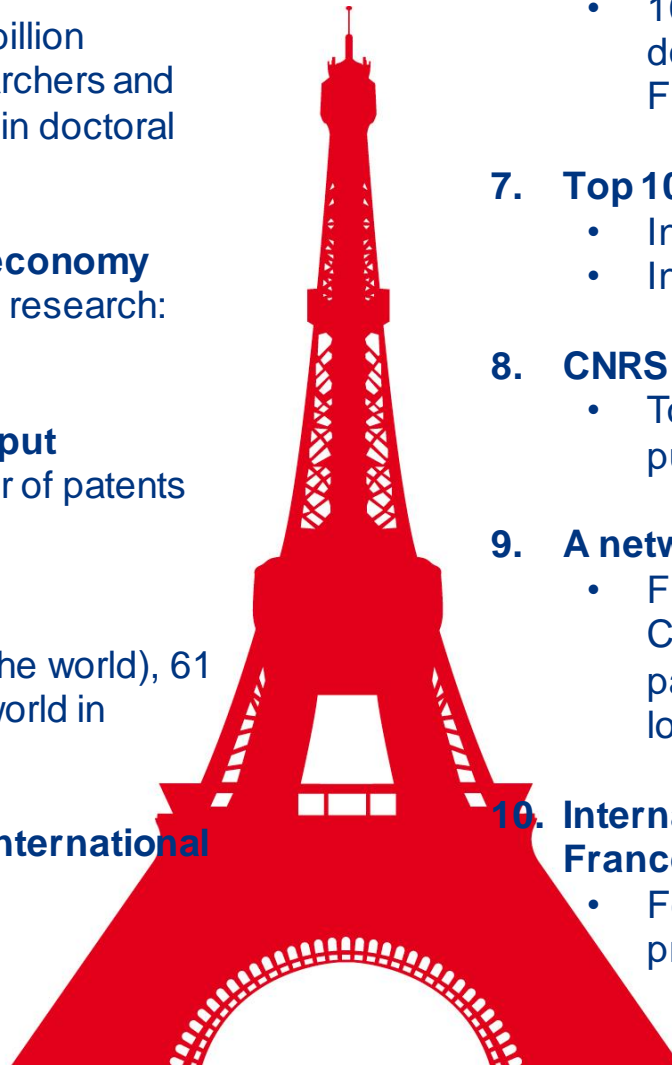

- Top research institution in high-level publications and in number of patents

9. A network of international research

- France's major research bodies (CNRS, CIRAD, INRA, INSERM, IRD, Institut Pasteur etc) operate in more than 250 locations around the world

10. International investment in research in France

- Foreign firms account for one-fifth of the private R&D conducted in France

In France, the approach is more working research in laboratory, research units... than courses.

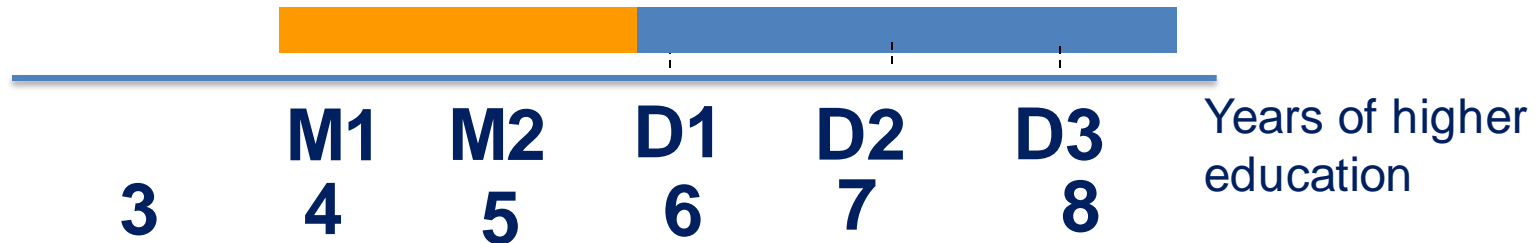

Duration from 3 to 6 years (on exemption), according to academic fields.
